

How to Play Wallball XC:

Wallball is a fast-paced sport where players take turns throwing a ball at a wall. This version has two teams who try to score points against each other (Wallball is often played with individual players).

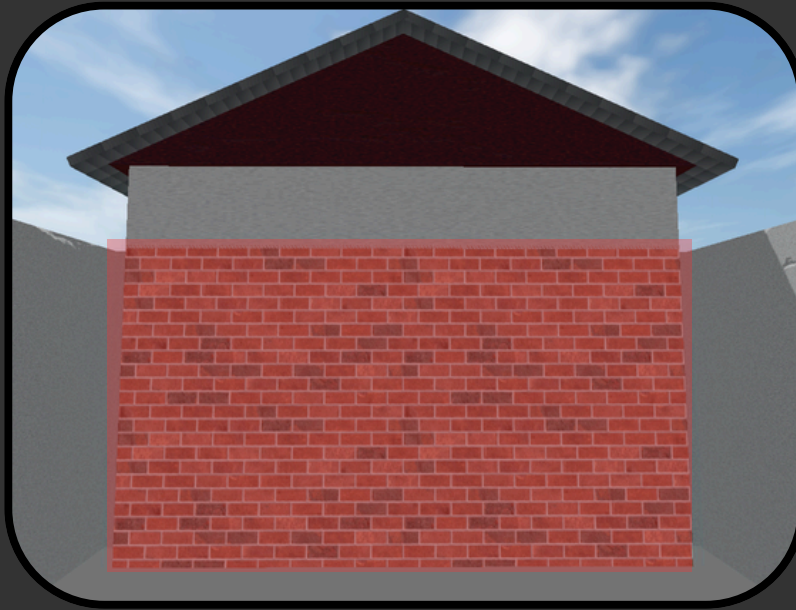

Wallball has 4 Basic Rules:

- Players throw a ball at a wall and try to catch it with no order/structure.
- If a player misses a catch, they must run to the wall. Play continues as normal.
- If the ball is thrown by an opponent hits the wall before a player reaches it, the thrower's team scores a point.
- Also, if the ball is caught in mid air by an opponent, the person who caught the ball scores a point.

Teams: (The Player counts as part of the Blue team)

Throwing and Catching:

Throwing: The main wall in the game is the brick wall highlighted in red. If the ball hits this wall without touching the floor, the throw is considered “Complete”. The ball cannot hit any other wall before the brick wall for a throw to be considered complete.

Catching: If the Catch key is pressed (Check the controls) when the ball is close, the ball will appear in front of the player (shown below outlined in red). This means that it can be thrown.

Running:

When a catch is missed, or a throw is incomplete or indirect, you must run to the wall. When required to do so, the text “Run To The Wall” (shown below) will appear at the top of the screen. The text will disappear when you reach the wall. If the ball hits the wall before you can reach it, the opponent will score a point.

Scoring:

There are two main ways to score:

- Throwing the ball at the wall when an opponent is running to it
- Catching the ball in mid-air when thrown by an opponent

Understanding the Indicator Triangle is crucial to scoring. There are three colors:

— Green: Currently Holding Ball

— Yellow: Running To the Wall,
Safe by Possession

— Red: Running to the Wall,
Unsafe
